1. Between 3 and 4:30 p.m. on 24 February 1951, nine Mig-15's, four biplanes, and three conventional fighters were parked on the eastern edge of the Dessau (N 52/ E 06) airfield. Eight additional jet fighters, which were ready for take-off, were parked close to the flight control station on the southern edge of the field. Their numbers could not be identified. There was no flying because of hazy weather and cloudy skies. Personnel of the field were quartered in two former administration buildings south of the field. Their strength could not be determined. The sentries were relieved by a platoon of 40 soldiers who wore blue epaulets.
2. A radio installation, consisting of a radio truck and a mast about 10 to 12 meters high, was located in the northeastern section of the field. A generator and a searchlight about 30 cm in diameter were near the installation.
